Client Profile

Our Role in the Community

Reproductive Health Services

At our four health centers in Manhattan, Brooklyn, the Bronx, and Staten Island, highly trained professionals provide state-of-the-art reproductive health care. Whether the people we serve need contraception, a pregnancy test, abortion counseling and services, or a test for a sexually transmitted infection, we're here for our clients — regardless of their age, immigration status, or ability to pay. Our health center staff is prepared to serve diverse communities. Medical interpretation and translated materials are available for non-English-speaking clients.

PPNYC's Focus on Teens

We are collaborating with the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene to help adolescents get health services. PPNYC's Bronx Center participates in Bronx Teen Connection, whose social workers act as liaisons between two Bronx schools and our Bronx Center. The social workers make presentations about the Bronx Center's services and arrange for student tours and appointments. In addition, PPNYC's Education and Training Department joins our health centers in hosting Center Teen Nights, where teens participate in a workshop conducted by our Teen Advocates, tour the health center, and are encouraged to schedule an appointment for a future visit.

Long-Acting Reversible Contraception

In keeping with evidence-based best practices regarding contraceptives, PPNYC has seen an increased number of patients requesting long-acting reversible contraception (LARC) — including intrauterine devices (IUDs) and the contraceptive implant — both in our family planning and abortion services. In 2013, more than 5,600 clients opted for a LARC method.

Project Street Beat

Project Street Beat is an innovative client-focused, street-based HIV prevention and linkage-to-care program whose services are free of charge. It's known for its success in reaching individuals at high risk for HIV who don't typically access traditional health care. Project Street Beat offers a range of medical services on a mobile medical unit, rapid HIV testing and risk reduction counseling, harm reduction services, and, for people living with HIV, expedited linkage to HIV primary care services, ongoing case management, and supportive services. In 2013, Project Street Beat had close to 23,000 encounters with individuals at risk and administered more than 5,000 HIV rapid tests.

Affordable Services

No one is turned away from PPNYC if he or she cannot pay. We know that some of our clients turn to PPNYC as their only source of health care. We help eligible uninsured clients to obtain public insurance or screen them for eligibility for our sliding fee scale. Each of our health centers has counselors who help clients enroll in public insurance programs such as Medicaid, Child Health Plus, and the Family Planning Benefit Program and in Qualified Health Plans through the New York State of Health Marketplace.
