A pregnant single woman brought suit to enjoin the enactment of a statute proscribing the procurement of abortion by a physician (Hallford), who was named as a defendant against him, was a married couple (the Does), who attacked the laws, basing their challenges on the possibilities of contraceptive failure, pregnancy, unpreparedness for parenthood, and impairment of the wife’s health. A three-judge District Court, which consolidated the actions, held that Roe and Hallford, and members of their classes, had a right to sue and presented justiciable controversies. Ruling that abortion statutes void as applied to those plaintiffs’ Ninth and Fourteenth Amendment rights, the court ruled the Does’ complaint not barred by the abortion statutes void as applied to those plaintiffs’ Ninth and Fourteenth Amendment rights. The court denied the Does’ motion to enjoin the abortion statutes and cross-appealed from the District Court’s dismissal of its complaint. Held: 1. While 23 U.S.C. 1953 authorizes a person to bring a civil suit for violation of this Act, it does not authorize a claimant to invoke the Act’s provisions before a District Court in the absence of a prior action in District Court, and a court of appeals may not enjoin a state's enforcement of a statute which it has held was not violative of the Act. 2. Title 28 U.S.C. 1343 authorizes a claimant to sue in federal court when state legislation violative of the Act is applied to affect any right secured by that Act, and the question whether the Act is applicable to the abortion laws is not an issue in this case. 3. Title 15 U.S.C. 1337 authorizes a claimant to sue in federal court when state legislation violative of the Act is applied to affect any right secured by that Act, and the question whether the Act is applicable to the abortion laws is not an issue in this case.
PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

The past year has been extraordinarily difficult for all of us. Collectively, we’ve weathered a pandemic that continues to cause catastrophic loss of life and economic turmoil, all within a contentious national political climate that threatens to fracture our democracy. Now the U.S. Supreme Court is questioning the legal right to bodily autonomy. There’s no way to sugarcoat it: we are witnessing — in real time — a probable end to the constitutional right to abortion.

We’re already reckoning with direct attempts to weaken Planned Parenthood of Tennessee and North Mississippi. On December 31, 2021, our Knoxville health center was burned down in an intentional, criminal act of arson. This happened less than a year after a gunman fired a shotgun through the same health center’s doors on the anniversary of Roe v. Wade, marking the first act of clinic violence our affiliate has ever experienced. This year, we must dedicate ourselves to the task of thriving, even as more people than ever did pre-pandemic. In fact, our Free Condoms programs broke the 1 million mark with condoms distributed! Our Promotores and Raíz programs are launching a Spanish language podcast, Salud Sexual y Reproductiva, the first of its kind in the region.

While all of this shows our strength, it’s our health center staff that really proves it. Despite the many trials Covid-19 continues to present, they have been on the front lines in the worst of times and continue to be there for our patients no matter what. I dedicate this annual report to our devoted health center staff who truly exemplified the spirit of “care, no matter what” this year.

Regardless of what our opposition does or says, PPTNM will never abandon our mission. We will get our patients the care they need. We will educate, advocate, and provide comprehensive sexual and reproductive healthcare — including contraception, gender affirming healthcare, STI testing, and more. And, whether it’s here at our affiliate health centers or elsewhere, we will help our patients access abortion. If abortion rights are lost in our region, we will turn this around through grassroots advocacy and organizing and restore those rights.

I encourage you to continue generously supporting and advocating for Planned Parenthood through the stressful, uncertain months ahead. These are our lives — and our children’s and grandchildren’s lives — that are at stake. Every Tennessean and Mississippian deserves nonjudgmental reproductive healthcare. We are in this together.

Ashley Coffield
President/CEO

BOARD CHAIR’S MESSAGE

I have been honored to lead the Board of Directors for PPTNM for the past two years and, while each of those years were laden with their own unique challenges, obstacles, and triumphs, none of them felt more daunting or pivotal than 2022 does. If you’re like me, the thought of living in a world where abortion is not available is overwhelming, infuriating, and surreal. Yet here we are on the precipice of that reality.

Though times may seem dark, I know that together we can and will protect the future of abortion access and Planned Parenthood of Tennessee and North Mississippi. I know this because of the incredible efforts and results I see on every page of this Annual Report — work accomplished despite a pandemic and countless attempts by anti-abortion lawmakers and extremists to shut that work down. But I also know that we can only protect the future of PPTNM if each of us goes “all in.”

This year, we must dedicate ourselves to the task of tearing down abortion stigma wherever we encounter it — in our homes, in our social circles, even in our own hearts and minds — by talking about abortion and educating ourselves and our neighbors about what is really at stake if we lose the constitutional right to abortion in Tennessee and Mississippi. PPTNM has a new website, ItsARight.org, to help you navigate these necessary conversations factually and confidently. I hope you will take a moment to visit this site and share it with your networks.

We must engage and advocate for abortion providers like Planned Parenthood any way we can on any given day. Whether it is forwarding a PPTNM email to a friend, attending a virtual or in-person event, writing a letter to your legislator, donating your time or money, or telling your abortion story — these are the actions we all must take to truly stand with Planned Parenthood right now.

I hope the accomplishments laid out in this year’s Annual Report fill you with as much inspiration and determination as they do me. By all of us standing together with Planned Parenthood, we can get through these extraordinary times and change the course of history.

Holly Hagan Oehmler, Board Chair
Planned Parenthood of Tennessee and North Mississippi serves 118 counties in Tennessee, North Mississippi, and East Arkansas. Your support made vital, nonjudgmental care accessible to thousands of adults and teens across Tennessee and North Mississippi.

Each patient who walks through our doors receives high-quality reproductive and sexual health care, no matter their racial, ethnic, or socioeconomic background.
PPTNM educators replace fear with facts and misinformation with education. All education programs are inclusive, evidence-based, interactive, and custom to the needs of the group.

Because the laws in Tennessee make it hard to directly reach youth, we train high school and college students in Tennessee to accurately and honestly reach and teach their peers sex ed.

  > Co-hosted a radio episode in Spanish about abortion stigma on Workers Dignity radio station.
  > Started a reproductive health care supply stockpile in partnership with The MIX offering community members easily and confidentially-accessed emergency contraception, condoms, and information. Over 500 supplies distributed to date.

    • 2 civic engagement classes for 10 Latinx individuals, including info about the U.S. Census
    • Caravan - Volunteers drove through Memphis with decorated cars encouraging residents to complete the census

+ B.L.A.C.K. Organizing Fellowship Program kickoff
  > B.L.A.C.K. (Black Lifestyle Advocates for Culture & Knowledge) was created in partnership with SisterReach and kicked off with an inaugural cohort of 5 Memphis-area Fellows in January 2021. The mission of B.L.A.C.K. is to hold a safe space for Black community activists and supporters to engage on issues and ideas relevant to the Black community.
  > B.L.A.C.K. Organizing Fellows created & hosted 6 virtual events engaging over 75 people on issues such as faith and sexuality in the Black community, Tennessee laws & policies that impact Black women, navigating healthy relationships as a Black woman, and a Black business showcase.
In the 2021-22 legislative cycle, our primary goal remains keeping abortion safe and legal in Tennessee by building power among new voters who are people of color, Black, young, or female.

- Hosted 2 virtual Action Forums and 3 virtual Lobbying 101 trainings where over 70 supporters learned about 2021 legislation and built their grassroots lobbying skills.
- 86 supporters attended our 1st all-virtual Advocacy Days! In addition to virtual lobbying visits with state legislators, we hosted 9 events over 3 days including a People’s State of the State with coalition partners, a workshop on telling stories for social change, a live-streamed conversation with Senator Heidi Campbell, happy hour, and daily text banking actions.

TENNESSEE ADVOCATES FOR PLANNED PARENTHOOD

Tennessee Advocates for Planned Parenthood (TAPP) is a 501(c)4 organization whose mission is to encourage and protect informed individual choice regarding reproductive health care. TAPP makes sure that elected officials hear one message loud and clear:

Our reproductive health care and rights are not negotiable.

TAPP ON THE HILL

FALL 2020 SHOUT YOUR VOTE CAMPAIGN

- Partnership with Memphis for All and PPFA
- Registered 143 Tennessee voters
- 22 volunteers made 2,958 calls and sent 12,574 text messages between July-September 2020 asking voters to register and/or check their registration

2021 ACTIONS

TAPP continues to grow Planned Parenthood’s supporter base by engaging in meaningful actions and conversations across Tennessee to shift our culture in favor of abortion access and reproductive freedom:

- On October 2, 2021, TAPP organized the largest abortion-centric action in Tennessee history. With over 3,500 participants, TAPP marched from the State Capitol to AT&T – the largest corporate donor to the sponsors of SB8, the Texas abortion ban – and ended with an abortion speakout at the Federal Courthouse.
- For the Knoxville municipal elections, we left voting information at 751 doors, made over 600 phone calls, sent 566 text messages, and provided a detailed voter guide on the candidates who ran for the public to make sure people had all the information they needed to vote.
- On December 1, 2021, as Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health (JWHO) was argued before the Supreme Court, we centered those who are directly impacted by abortion bans in an art exhibit called Love Notes to Abortion: A Collection of Visual Stories. Hundreds attended this three-day event in order to expand public understanding that the threat to abortion access extends far beyond Texas.

DEEP VALUES CONVERSATIONS

In August 2021, TAPP kicked off a statewide Deep Values Conversations campaign. Through conversation and deep listening, our goal is to move 30% of Tennessee voters in the Rising American Electorate toward greater support for abortion access. Based on the research of Dave Fleischer and the Leadership Lab, we use a 10-point scale to gauge people’s support of abortion access. The initial phase of this campaign wrapped up in November. Now, a program evaluation team at the University of Tennessee will evaluate this project and share feedback, which we will use to continue a deep values approach to our work in 2022.

- Trained 48 volunteers
- Called 15,382 Tennessee voters
- Completed 418 conversations
- Moved 29.9% of voters contacted at least 1 point on the scale towards increased support for abortion access
- Identified 225 new supporters of abortion access
